CONTINUE THEIR

Sacrifice Removal Sale

UNTIL AUGUST 1st

Marking High-Grade Merchandise at actual reductions, advertising prices that really existed, and with a legitimate reason for holding a sale to dispose of an entire stock, have been the means of making our removal sale one of the most successful sales of the season. There is yet a portion of our stock to be sold—the better grades which have only recently been reduced to take the place of goods of lesser consequence already sold, to make our range of prices complete, as well as to sell all stock by August 1st. Our new store, 313 East Broad Street, is nearly completed, and as it is our intention to open with an entire new stock it is absolutely necessary to reduce the price of goods to such low figures that will sell them in a limited number of days. BRISTOL ELECTION WILL BE CONTESTED

Temperance People Hold Mass-Meeting and Decide to Make Fight.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BRISTOL, VA., July 15.—It was decided at a mass meeting of temperance people to-day to contest the recent local option election in Bristol, by which the "wets" won by a majority of thirty-two, and a petition to that effect was signed by more than twenty men, in whose names the action will be brought. Counsel has been retained, and it is stated that money is being sent here from "dry" people throughout East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia to bear the expense. The "drys" have until Saturday to file their petition. The "wets" will make prompt answer to the petition with a view to having the matter decided during the August term of the Corporation Court. In spite of a determination to contest, the whiskey men continue to post notices of their intention to apply for licenses. The "wets" are irritated over the situation, and bitterness of feeling is manifest.

There are two grounds upon which the election will be contested. The first is the allegation that more than a hundred non-residents, including many Tennesseans, voted. The second is that capitation taxes of a number of voters were not paid by themselves, but by others.

BURIED HIS MONEY TO KEEP IT FROM THE RATS

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., July 15.—Investigation to-day disclosed the identity of the man found dead near Ocean View, whose remains were badly decomposed and eaten by birds, as Harry R. Deering, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was recently a plumber along the battleship Connecticut, and was one of the ship's crew on the world-circling cruise completed last February. The dead man has a brother, Joseph T. Deering, connected with the Southern Express Company, and residing at 600 Dobbs Avenue, Chattanooga. The note found on the dead man's body asked that he be notified, indicating that death was contemplated, and that he committed suicide.

The finding of a big scar on the skull led to the belief among many that the man had been actually dealt with, probably murdered, but this is not given credence by the county officers, owing to the note found on the body.

PASTOR SURPRISES ROBBER AT WORK IN HIS CHURCH

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ROANOKE, VA., July 15.—Rev. W. H. Joyce, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, had an exciting experience with a young burglar in his church to-day. The man obtained the key of the church from the preacher's young son on the plea that he had some repair work to do in the church. Later, when the preacher went to the church, he found the door of his study fastened. He aided his son to climb in a window and a door was opened. Entering, he saw the young man with a hatchet in his hand, which he had attempted to break into the fund box. Mr. Joyce grappled with the burglar, who attempted to strike him with the hatchet, but the preacher, being stronger of the two, jerked it out of his hands, receiving a slight cut on the wrist. He held the young man until he reached the door, when he broke loose and ran. Mr. Joyce chased him for several blocks, but he escaped, shaking a stolen knife at the preacher.

LAST TRIBUTES PAID TO "VIRGINIA'S GRAND OLD MAN"

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., July 15.—The funeral of Hon. John Goode, which was held this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock from St. Luke's Episcopal Church, was one of the most largely attended in years, and the simple services, conducted by Dr. David W. Howard, were impressive and touching. Hundreds of the leading citizens and men widely known in public life, paid tribute to the "Grand Old Man of Virginia." The services were held in the church until 9:15 to-morrow morning, when they will be taken to Bedford for interment. The pall-bearers were: W. O. Old, Sr., Captain W. C. Whitte, Captain W. E. Taylor, former Governor William E. Cameron, Judge William B. Martin, Captain W. R. Mayo and Adam Tredwell.

Only One Candidate.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILLIAMSBURG, VA., July 15.—Pursuant to adjournment, the chairman of the Democratic committee of the counties of New Kent, Charles City, Warwick, York, James City and the city of Williamsburg, composing this legislative district, met to-day at 12 o'clock. Receiver Is Asked.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ROANOKE, VA., July 15.—Mrs. Eva M. Angle, wife of T. M. Angle, the North Carolina distiller, has applied to the Circuit Court for a receiver for the Casper distillery, in this city. She alleges that the management is extravagant and that the distillery is losing money. Judge North appointed Sergeant T. R. Tillett temporary receiver, and announced that he would hear the application for a receiver on September 2.

SWEEPING CHANGE IS MADE BY BOARD

Three Members of Institute's Faculty Relieved of Further Duty.

COMPLETE REORGANIZATION

Most Radical Move Made in School for Many Years.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BLACKSBURG, VA., July 15.—Feeling that the long-existing combination of such a number of departments under the head of "the farm" has resulted in a faulty organization, the board of visitors of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at its meeting yesterday decided to make a change. In some cases, the work was divided, and in others consolidated. In the future the dairy herd and barn will be under the direction of Professor W. K. Brainard, professor of dairy husbandry, and will be managed as a separate department. The expenses will be kept under separate account.

The chairs of animal husbandry and veterinary science will henceforth be combined and new professors and assistants will be provided. Under this arrangement Dr. John Spencer, Dr. W. J. Quirk and Professor A. P. Spencer will be relieved of their duties. A new farm manager will be chosen, and other needed changes will be made in the plant.

This action of the board of visitors at the meeting here means a complete reorganization of the agricultural department. The board sustains its action of last August in requesting the resignation of Dr. J. W. Quirk as professor of animal husbandry, to take effect September 1; removes Dr. John Spencer as college veterinarian, and Professor A. P. Spencer as associate professor of animal husbandry.

The combining of several departments means the saving of a considerable sum to the college, and the removal of so many men at one time is the most sweeping change that has been made for fifteen years.

Provision was made for better equipment in certain departments and the necessary improvements in the agricultural departments to prevent possible spreading of contagious diseases and for better sanitation.

The board will continue the policy of having committees look after the departments and report to the regular meeting, held four times a year, instead of an executive committee, with almost absolute power, reporting as a yearly meeting, as was the custom for a long time.

The action of the board sustains many recommendations of President Barringer, which have been before it for a year, and there held up, it is alleged, through influence in the school and state, to the administration and the college. The members stated that the meeting was thoroughly harmonious, and it was freely intimated by some of them that now that lines between each department have been sharply defined the head of each would be held directly responsible for conditions in his department, and criticisms or petty jealousies one of the other would not be tolerated.

MANN HAS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT BIG STONE GAP

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BIG STONE GAP, VA., July 15.—Judge Mann last night addressed one of the largest political meetings ever held here, the Federal court building, in which he spoke, being crowded to overflowing. He was given close attention and frequently was vigorously applauded during his speech of an hour and a half.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., July 15.—The Norfolk delegates to the State Republican Convention to be held at Newport News expressed surprise here to-day that Postmaster Roy Cabell, of Richmond, had declined the nomination of the party as gubernatorial candidate, declaring that it was the first time that they had any knowledge that he had been even considered for the honor.

CONFERENCE TAKES ACTION ON SCHOOL OWNERSHIP

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LA WRENCEVILLE, VA., July 15.—The forty-first Petersburg District Conference of the M. E. Church, South, convened on Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock with Dr. J. C. Reed, presiding elder, in the chair.

The conference adopted resolutions on the educational question presented by Rev. J. T. Bosman, R. B. Blankinship and W. E. Trant. The resolutions called the necessity for institutions owned and controlled by the church, and requested the annual conference to memorialize the general conference to require that the title to all institutions which claim support from the Methodist Church, be vested in the church by legislative action. The resolutions also provided that no assessment be laid for the benefit of any educational institutions until the title to the property is vested in the church, and in the selection of those trustees the church, through some of its governing bodies, does not have a voice.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] FAYETTEVILLE, N. The property is built at a cost of $33,000, partially borne by a bond issue. It is a handsome structure, well built and modern in design. It is of great importance to this community and section, as a ferry has been the only means of crossing the river with the Cumberland since the burning of the old bridge in February.

SURVEYING ROUTE FOR NEW RAILWAY

Road Will Tap Chesapeake and Ohio and Go Into North Carolina.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LYNCHBURG, VA., July 15.—The mystery attaching to the corps of engineers found at work surveying on the James River, Branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway between Tyrone and the Six Mile Bridge, a short distance east of Lynchburg, has been solved. It had been surmised that the work which was being done so quietly, was for the recently chartered Carolina, Virginia and Western Railway, and through a conversation over the long-distance telephone with Captain T. O. Troy, the president of the road, at Lynchburg, the rumor was substantiated.

Captain Troy stated that the work of surveying had been begun with a view to ascertaining the best route for the road. The road itself is to tap the Chesapeake and Ohio and pass south to some point in North Carolina. Upon the question of what will be the best route from an engineering standpoint will depend the points that this new road will connect. Captain Troy seemed to think that the route would be little doubt that it would furnish a new railroad for Danville, which, in its railroad facilities, is in the hands of the Southern. He was asked what the chances are that the road would pass through Lynchburg.

"It depends entirely on the best route to be determined by the engineers who are now on the survey," he replied. "It is certainly a possibility that it may serve Lynchburg as a feeder for the Virginian."

He was also asked whether the new road would be a continuation of the Virginia Railway, which Lynchburg, Va. Troy completed not long ago. "In a sense, yes," was his reply, "but it is absolutely independent of any other road. It is in no way controlled by either the owners of the Virginia Air Line, or of any other railway."

It is understood that the new road will tap the lines running west in Virginia, and join them to the lines running in the same direction in North Carolina. The incorporators of the road are Captain T. O. Troy, president, and B. R. Harrison, secretary, both of Amherst; A. B. Carrington, R. A. James and W. R. Fitzgarrald, of Danville, and H. C. Joyner and Stickley Tucker, of Amherst.

Second Jury Tied Up.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., July 15.—A second jury seems hopelessly tied up in the J. A. Olive "blind tiger" case, in which, earlier in the week, a jury was out twenty-four hours and was dismissed, unable to agree.

The second jury in the case this forenoon was out all afternoon, and being told by the foreman that no agreement was in sight, at 6 o'clock Judge Allen ordered that the jury-men go to their homes until court convenes to-morrow.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WINCHESTER, VA., July 15.—While asleep on the track of the Norfolk and Western Railway, near Berryville, last night, Robert Nelson and Andrew Robinson, colored men, were run down by a train, the former receiving injuries which caused his death.
